IN HIGH GEAR

Progress depends on positive change, growth, moving ahead . . .

Moving ahead a little faster depends on shifting gears to gain momentum.

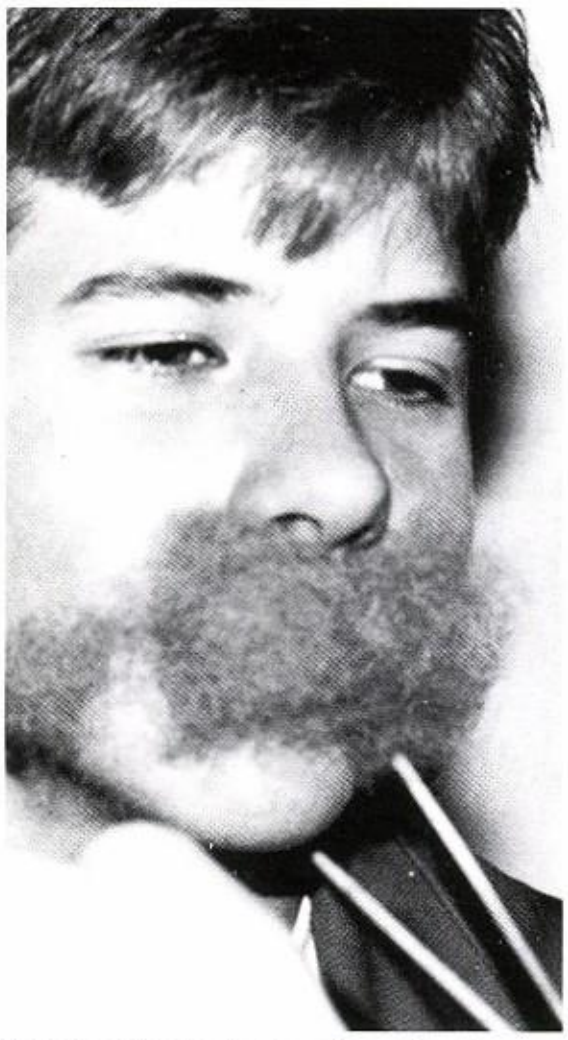
The district is long out of ''cruise control'' and is speeding toward the future in high gear.

''Shifting Gears,'' the 1987 yearbook's theme, represents the forward thinking and achievements gained this year; a top-notch accreditation rating, community support through Bulldog Backers and the Spiritmobile and the PTA's Open House, student support through academic and athletic gains, faculty support in meeting the challenges of TECAT and TTAS, administrative support in recognizing and rewarding achievers with the UIL Literary Appreciation Tea and the Sports Banquet.

The newly-painted wall on Highway 64 symbolizes the increased pride and strong sense of identity with the area.

Graduates of '87 may recall the year as the first to celebrate the success of combined efforts toward excellence.

We shifted gears, took off at full speed, and nothing can stop us now.



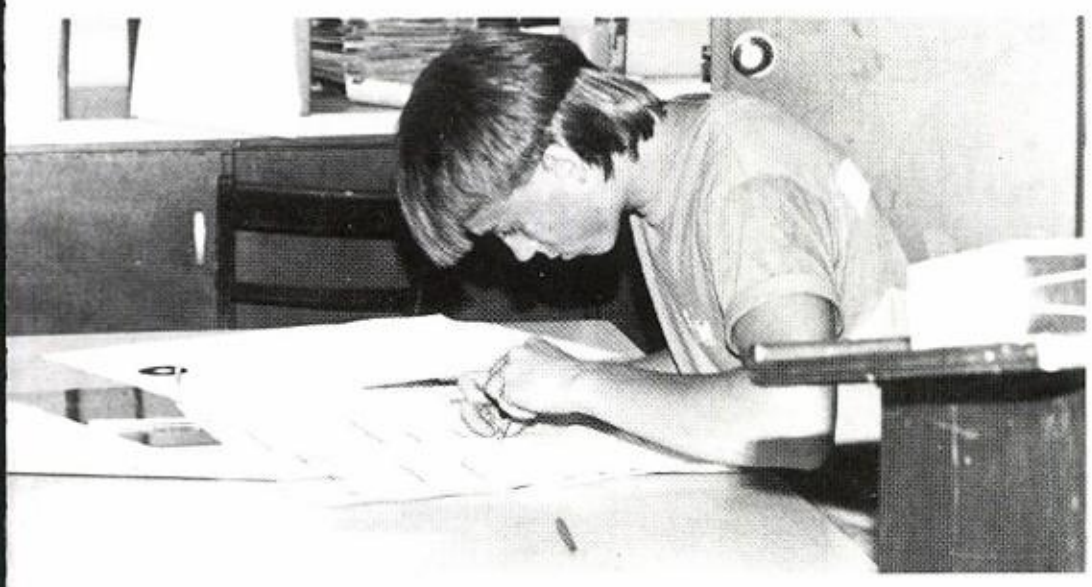
STARS AND STRIPES FOREVER. Reneė Hood specializes in painting the American flag on the wall.

JUST A LITTLE OFF THE SIDES, PLEASE. Ron Gooch tries a new look in theatre class.

YOU TARZAN, ME JANE. Wayne Thomas and Vicki Gray take turns swinging from a rope while painting the wall.

HAVE YOU MET MY HALF-BROTHER? Steve Jackson tries experimental make-up in drama.

Stopping Us Now!



CLEAR THE WAY. Donnie Rhodes rockets through a Jacksonville defender.

BEEP BEEP. Jennifer Lee clowns around at the Halloween Carnival.

PARTNERS. Bonnie Brumbelow and Windy Green work on a classroom project.

CONCENTRATION. Aaron Russell tries designing an ad for the newspaper.

COOL AS USUAL ... Chad DeVos takes mascot tryouts in stride.
"GIVE ME A BEAT." Amy Ripley has fun at the sock hop.
SMILE! Tracey Harvey and Clay Oldham look serious at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

"Of course we were contributing to school spirit and community pride and all that, but I think the best thing about painting the wall was getting to miss English."

William Elder (11)

"Graffiti before, pride at last, painting the wall was such a blast! Hanging from a rope on '64, racing to Shop 'n Save for refreshments galore . . . With paint on my face, I resembled a fool, but anything's worth a day out of school!"

Kim Pruitt (11)

OFF THE WALL

Chapel Hill High School . . . where's that? Is that in Tyler?

An identity crisis used to plague the school district, but no longer.

We've become a force to be reckoned with, and community pride is on the upswing.

The wall on Highway 64 — old, ugly, and graffiti-stained — did nothing for student and community image and morale.

A fresh coat of paint, 100 gallons to be exact, transformed the ugliness into a source of pride.

On December 3, 1987, work on the wall was completed.

Art Instructor Dave Burnett, Physics Instructor Hershal Wheat, and Drafting Instructor Tony Adams supervised the project. The P.T.A. furnished refreshments.

Over 50 students participated: Dee Daly, Tara Weikel, Debbie Briery, Danice Deffebach, Heidii Youngblood, Tim Elliston, Nicole Robinson, Christy Pruitt, Shannon Hillard, Scott Wigginton, Craig Williams, Tish Watson, Stephen Morrison, Keith Rhodes, Kyle Lindsey, Bryan Scruggs, Tim Crutcher, William Elder, Trampas Bass, Camela Williams, Amy Bland, Amy Davis, Michael Barton, Tamoy Carter, Joseph Jackson, Teddy Jackson, Sean Jenkins, Kelly Johnson, Hershal Massenburge, Albert Mumphrey, Jackie Smith, Jaime Soza, Don Sudduth, Mark Edwards, Shannon Kelley, Sherrie Gray, Vicki Gray, Toby Foster, Terence Thompson, Stephanie Polley, Philena Smith, Reneé Hood, Wayne Thomas, Teri Sampson, Michele North, Scott Williams, Derrick Beal, Jodie Criag, Emery Josserand, Terri Green, Keri Kelley, Joe Cano, Libby Bryner, and Kim Pruitt.

It was a learning experience in working successfully as a group. Everyone involved received a certificate of appreciation.

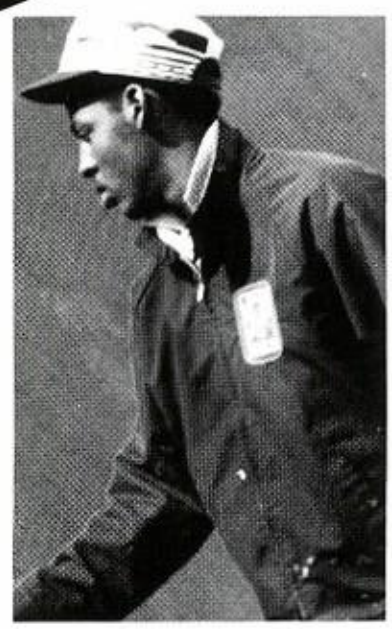
Evidence that this year was unique is the wall that will stand as a reminder of high school years.

"I was proud to be part of something I can look back on and remember my years at C.H.H.S."

Renée Hood (12)

"Although it was cold, and I had more paint on me than on the wall, I'm glad I was part of improving our school spirit. I'm also glad to have had the opportunity to miss physics and trig."

Terri Green (12)



"I was glad I could help promote school spirit."

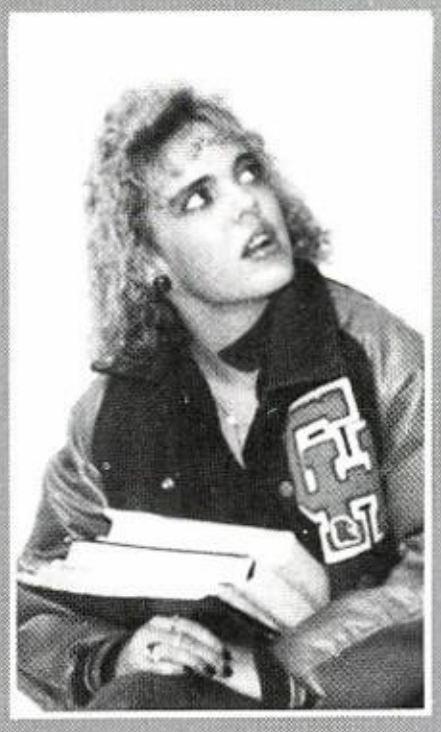
STATE MASCOT. Albert Mumphrey paints an armadillo's rings.

Shifting Gears Through . . . Academics



"Since the no-pass, no-play law came into effect, I have to keep my grades up to stay in drill team." Joan Clark (11)

"This has been a rewarding year for me because I have watched my students work very hard to achieve their goals. In the future, as they use their achieved skills and knowledge, I hope they will look back and be proud of themselves for the effort and hard work they have put into their achievements." Vera Moore (Biology Instructor)

"To surpass in good qualities, you must learn to work together as a team with your friends. If in sports, debate, or on the job, changes will come. I have learned how to be part of a team and make decisions for the future here at C.H.H.S." Roderick Lewis (10)

MEETING CHALLENGES

Since 1985, teachers and students have been concerned about the "fairness" of the exit-level test which all juniors are required by law to take.

Each student has a total of four chances to pass this test which covers basic mathematics and English skills. The test itself was brought about to guarantee that no student would graduate illiterate.

Teachers tried to prepare students to the best of their ability. Mrs. Dottie Roark and Mrs. Arthurlene Greer gave a TEAMS pre-test to the sophomores last spring to identify areas in which the students needed help. "I try to help students prepare for TEAMS by encouraging them to read, read, read. Not only does reading improve their spelling, vocabulary and thinking skills, but it also can be an enjoyable exercise for the imagination," Mrs. Roark said.

The TEAMS test lets the teachers know which students need the most help. Still the cry from some students remains, "It's not fair!" Sophomore Tommie Pangle stated passionately, "I don't think that a test should determine graduation!" However, there were other students who understand the reason for the test. Sophomore Venus Welch said, "I think it is fair, but I also think there should be more preparation time and more classes that specialize in basic skills."

The majority of the teachers in local schools remained very enthusiastic about TEAMS. Mathematics teacher Paula Page said, "The TEAMS test is a good idea. It will encourage students to learn English and math instead of copying answers for a grade on a report card."

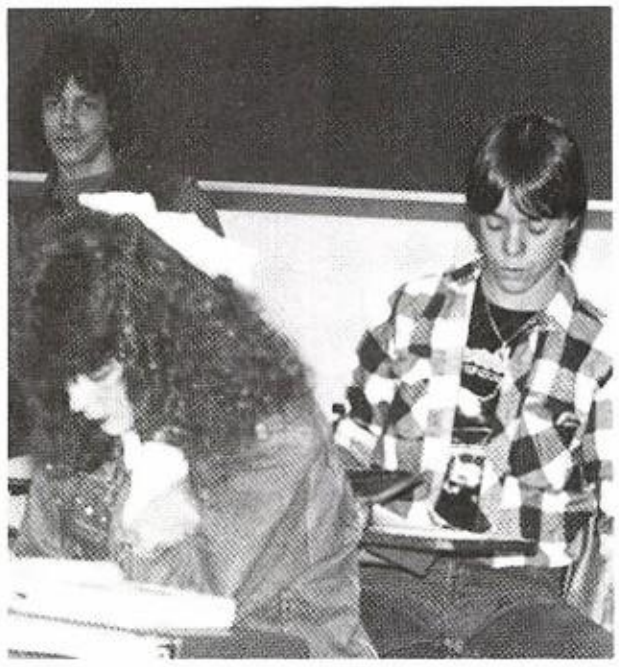
Excellence



"Keeping my grades up is important because athletics is an important part of my high school years. I plan to attend college, and my grades will have to be their very best." Lambert Shaw (10)

"Keeping my grades up is part of going the advanced route, and having good grades enables me to participate in extracurricular activities such as band, choir, and track." Becky Harris (10)

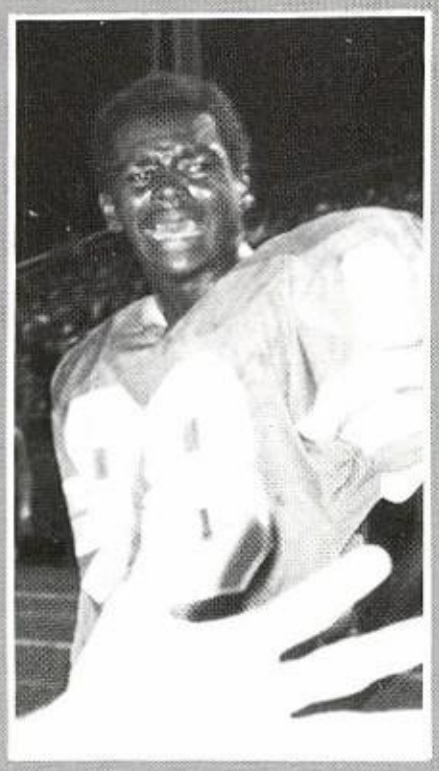
Shifting Gears Through Social



"I really liked the impact that M-M-M Max Headroom had on our class. He was like the dividing point between 33 rpm records being played at 78."

Willie Reed (12)

"Take a look at an old annual and see what your mother wore back then. From mini-skirts to full-length with big hair bows . . . fads and fashions just come and go. Styles never really change."

Letishia Wesley (12)

IT COMES NATURALLY. Eileen Tabb seems to enjoy being "nerdy"during Spirit Week.

ARE WE COOL, OR WHAT? Michele North, Sarah Burch, Keri Johnson, Julie Hughes, Laura Currey, Kim Weaver, and Bill Davis model current fads in clothing.

STRUT THAT STUFF. Chad Devos shows his style during cheerleader tryouts.

Awareness

WHAT WAS HOT

Big news on the scene for '87 were Guess jeans and overalls, Coca Cola sportswear, Corona and Spuds McKenzie shirts, Levi's 501 jeans. Just about anything could be worn by either guys or girls.

Role models included the revival of Buckwheat from the "Little Rascals" and "Gumby" from "Saturday Night Live." Their faces decorated everything from T-shirts to coffee mugs to watches.

Let's not forget Vanna White, nationally-famed letter-turner and hostess of "Wheel of Fortune."

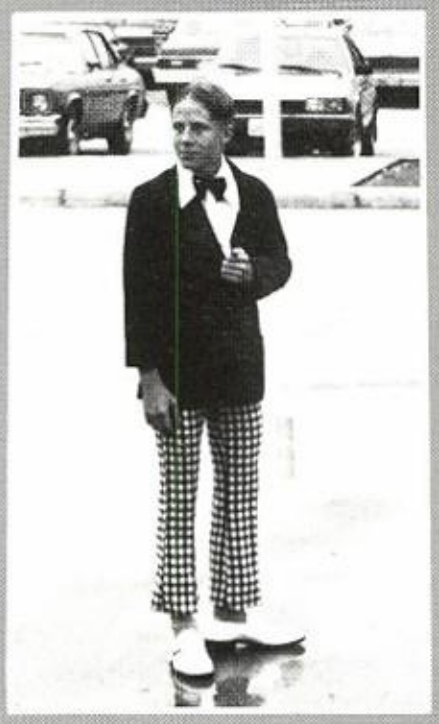
A computer character became the star of a TV special and eventually got his own show. Who else but Max Headroom?

The year's fashions catered to daring designs and intense solids. Silver and gold metallic shoes and giant hairbows made eye-catching coordinates.

Hairstyles relied on mousse to get either a flat-top 50's look or punky spikes worn by "starkers."

"Everything comes back in style" eventually proved true this year.

"Fads and fashions don't reveal who a person is, but they help."
Teresa Strouss (11)



"I enjoyed being a loner and a rebel on Nerd Day."
Tim Griffin (10)

"Clothes reflect the nature of the person, and fads and fashions pass with the wind."
Sherrie Edwards (11)

Shifting Gears Through Personal

"Love at Chapel Hill is exciting and new. The people here set a course for adventure and keep their minds on a new romance." Emery Josserand (12)

"I love to see couples at school because it's so fun. What I love the most is seeing couples walk each other to class, hand-in-hand, showing how much they love each other." Daphne Moore (10)

LOVE

"Love trips me out! I'll see two people together, and they're saying they love each other, then a month or two later, they're hating each other severely. Every once in awhile it works out, but it usually doesn't. I guess it's just hard for 17 and 18-year-olds to get a grip on."

John Charlton (12)

FRIENDS FOREVER

For many teenagers in high school, love and dating seem to be the center of their lives.

Many others, however, are more wrapped up in academic requirements, athletic achievements, and career plans.

Group dating, with everyone "going Dutch," has replaced the kind of formal dating of another generation.

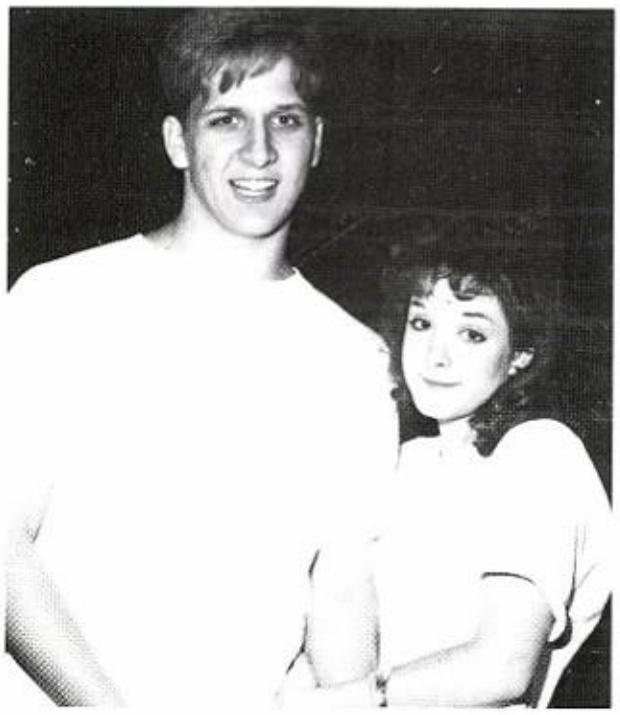
What qualities are looked for in "the right one?"

I look for someone sensitive, who loves you for what you are and lets you be yourself. He will also have to be willing to stand by you always," senior Keri Kelly said.

Some were more specific.

"She has to have a good personality and not be taller than me. She must be willing to share in the housework and love to go rodeoing," senior Jerry Wheat said.

Communication



"My first year in high school has been so much fun. Meeting Chad before school, meeting Chad at my locker between classes, writing to Chad in class, then, finally meeting Chad after school." Melanie Springfield (9).

"I think that people have more friendships in this school than dates." Adrienna Gill (10).

LOVE

SNUGGLING CLOSE. Tara Weikel, Keri Johnson, Kandi Crawford, and their dates (Raby Hampton, Mike Zinni, and Robert Cabrera) enjoy the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

WHERE'S MARRYIN' SAM? Teddy Jackson and Tammy Whitaker may be contemplating a future together.

URPRISE ATTACK. Wayne Thomas sneaks up on Sharlene Jureski.

Shifting Gears Through Eighteen

"My job is not stressful. It removes stress. I love children and when I go to work my children hug me and say, "I love you, Miss Jackie'."

Jackie Ates (12)

"After-school jobs give you a chance to make your own money and a feeling of independence. It also gives you money so you can party with your friends." Tiffany Neyland (10)

WORK

GOOD MORNING, MISS JONES! Pre-school children greet senior Lojuana Jones at Candy Cane Day Care Center.

DISHING IT OUT. Elizabeth Ross and Tina Mumphrey help out in the cafeteria.

BLUE & GOLD DAY. Laura Smith, Becky Harris, Joyce Taylor, and Rhonda Bennett discuss Homecoming plans during lunch.

d Ambitions

EIGHT DAYS A WEEK

Not only were high school students dedicated to improving their grades, they were motivated to begin training for careers through after-school jobs.

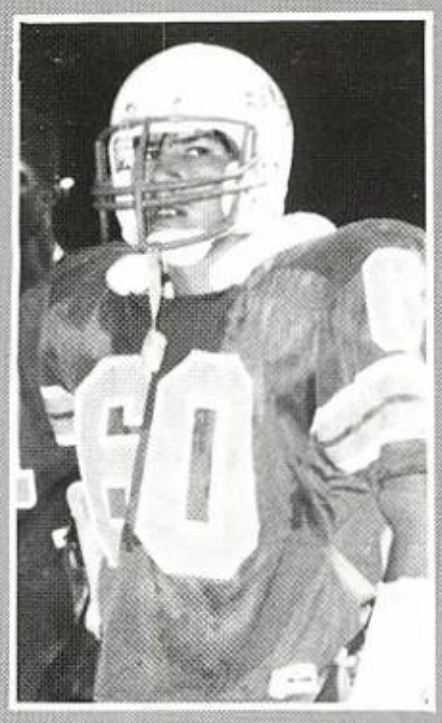
The HECE work program, under the direction of Nan Sulser, enabled students to go to school half a day and work the other half in business.

"I enjoy the work program. It gives me a chance to be responsible and to make my own money to buy things. The work program lets me participate in school activities, because I get out of work early enough to do so," senior Kelly Gilliam said.

Angie Bueno, who works at Dairy Queen, added, "Where I work, I get off at 5 p.m. so I have time for my family and my social life."

The biggest concern of most working teenagers is how it will affect their classroom grades. It is hard for the students to work and go to school at the same time.

Many are deciding that the benefits outweigh the added stress from part-time work.



"I hope to get a scholarship and play football for an important college.
Pete Balbas (11)

"Trying to keep up grades and hold down a job is a challenge for anyone."
Johnny Everhart (11)

"I hope to enlist in the Air Force."

HOMECOMING SPIRITMOBILE: HELMET ON WHEELS

"As the team progressed the Spirit Mobile added spirit to the game."

Kandi Crawford (12)

It was the night of October 10. Blue and gold mums spotlighted the bleachers, and loyal Bulldog fans jumped to their feet as the battle cry was sounded. It was Homecoming of 1986-87. Mascot Amy Ripley drove the brand new Spiritmobile that led the Bulldogs out onto the field. The Spiritmobile was made possible through the efforts of the Bulldog Backers, Arp State Bank, and Threkeld-Covington Insurance.

Halftime saw the crowning of Queen Sherrie Gray, escorted by Toby Foster. Last year's Queen, Cyndi Belcher, crowned her with the help of Chris Knotts and Brandy Elliott, attendants.

Dancing on the Ceiling

"The floor show was a huge success due to the tremendous teamwork and effort that everyone put forth." Angela Heisler (11)

Colorful balloons and decorative costumes filled the gym for the Highlighter Floor Show under the direction of Terri Knotts.

Opening was the full drill team with "Hooray For Hollywood," continuing with special duets, solos, officer routines and special guest Cyndi Belcher, last year's captain, ending with "Dancing On the Ceiling," featuring the full drill team once again.

New officers were inducted: They include Amy Bland, DeAnna Gilley, Stacy Gilley, Jennie Jeter, Shelley Kyser, and Michelle Mladenka.

Special awards were given to Bonnie Brumbelow, Freshman Highlighter; DeAnna Gilley, Sophomore Highlighter; Shelley Kyser, Junior Highlighter; and Keri Johnson, Senior Highlighter. Highlighter of the Year was Kim O'Neil and Director's Awards went to Stephanie Polley and Carla Barnett.

The Highlighters put on a spectacular performance.

IN WITH THE NEW: New officers Amy Bland, Stacy Gilley, DeAnna Gilley, Jennie Jeter, Shelley Kyser, and Michelle Mladenka, and old officers Carla Barnett, Kim O'Neil, and Stephanie Polley are recognized at the induction ceremony.

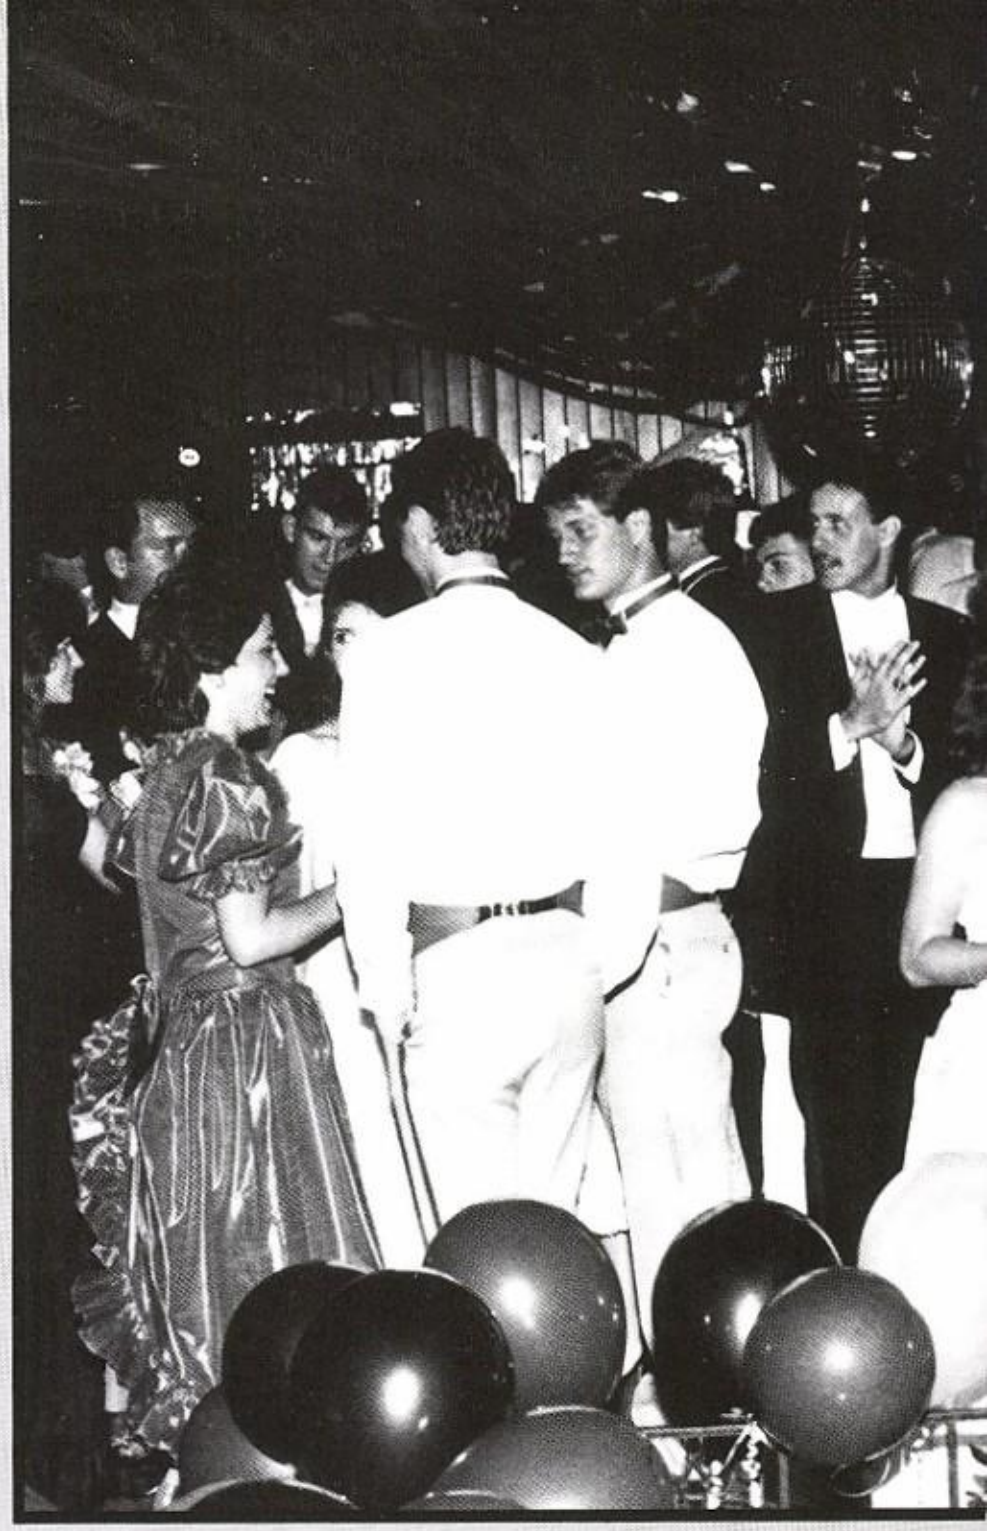
MIDNIGHT MASQUERADE

Silver streamers, red and black decorations, and loud music were all highlights of the 1987 Junior/Senior Prom. Over 300 people were in attendance and enjoyed a memorable evening with their dates.

"Midnight Masquerade" was the theme chosen by the junior class. Decorations ranged from top hats and canes to ballroom masks and ladies' gloves.

Students stood in line patiently awaiting a chance to drink pineapple punch out of the souvenir champagne glasses, while others enjoyed dancing.

This year's prom was held at the Rose Center located within the Tyler Rose Gardens. Students in the junior class began decorating early that day and their efforts made an enjoyable prom. Sponsors were Sherri Burrell, Vera Moore, Mary Vahovius, Andi Hartman, Joyce Buchanan.



LONG LIVE THE KING AND QUEEN. Prom King Toby Foster crowns Queen Vicky Gray.

SHARING TIMES. Students share the events of the evening while waiting for prom pictures.

LET'S DANCE! Angie Heisler patiently waits for her date to ask her to dance.

Class motto: Special times, special places, special friends together. The moments pass so quickly, but the memories last forever.

SPECIAL FRIENDS TOGETHER

You can be anything you want to be, but first you have to want to be somebody.

This was the keynote of the commencement address given by Frank Melton, president of TV-3, Inc. He received a standing ovation from the capacity crowd in Wagstaff Gymnasium.

Melton offered several other points of sound advice to the class of '87.

"Your ancestors have made tremendous sacrifices so you can sit here tonight. Don't ever forget, and stay close to your own children," Melton told them.

He said that instead of cherishing what older Americans have to tell us, we often cast them aside.

After cautioning graduates against the dangers of drugs and alcohol, he reminded them that they will always need help from other people.

"The ability to get along with others is priceless," he said.

Others participating in commencement exercises were Mrs. Elaine Merrbach, processional; Mindy Webb, invocation; Tara Weikel, pledge of allegiance, Sheila Kimlicko, national anthem; Vicki Gray, welcome; valedictory and salutatory addresses, Danice Deffebach and Sherrie Gray; benediction, Carla Barnett; school song, Robin Hall and Amy Mosley; and awarding of diplomas, Superintendent Johnny Johnston, Principal Jerry Hardy, and board members Jim Cunningham, Charles Edwards, Shirley Dean, W.E. Brumbelow, Mel Charlton, Cris Pinkerton, and Glynn Whitaker.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT

Holding students' interest through creative teaching ideas was the goal of most faculty members.

From making ice cream in chemistry to wheelchair races in P.E., teachers worked to create variety and excitement in their classrooms.

Among the many projects were the spool experiment in physics, blood typing in biology, a Helen Keller experiment in English II, youth-in-government activities, screenplay writing and libel trials in photojournalism, and World War II speakers in American History.

OBJECTION, YOUR HONOR! Beverly Simmons finds flaws in the prosecution's argument for libel in a photojournalism trial.

"Being in the N.H.S. is one of the many great honors of high school, but if some of the smartest students in school can't even light a candle, something is wrong." William Elder (11)

Inducted into the NHS this year were Amy Bailey, Kari Barr, Lynn Bennett, Melissa Blackmon, Amy Bland, Tim Crutcher, Sherrie Edwards, William Elder, Stacey Florence, Blaine Forshage, Tracey Harvey, Angela Heisler, Karen Kennedy, Kristi Lindley, Evelyn Mumphrey, Amy Neill, Teri Parnell, André Price, Kim Pruitt, Keith Rhodes, Nicole Robinson, Eileen Tabb, Adrian Walker, Camela Williams, and Heidii Youngblood. A traditional candlelight ceremony in the gym honored these inductees. This year's fundraiser for the NHS was the selling of Senior T-shirts, which included the names of every graduating senior.

Newly reorganized by Greg Brown, was the Key Club. Next year should be even more organized and on its way, because this year was a year to get something good on its way.

TECHNICAL MINDS

"Taking four years of drafting has really been beneficial in seeking a career. I advise everyone to take at least one year."

Derrick Beal (12)

Tyler Junior College hosted the East Texas Industrial Arts Drafting Regional I Competition. From this competition, Chapel Hill students won 24 plaques for best-in-division, 27 blue first-place ribbons, 27 red second-place ribbons, and 17 third-place white ribbons.

Twenty-five students entered projects, drawings, and on-site testing. Of these, twenty-three students qualified for state competition in Waco on May 1 and 2. Chapel Hill also won the "Best Over-all School Award." Students qualifying for state include Mark Adams, Derrick Beal, Michael Chastain, Fernando Dean, Brian Dingler, Vicki Gray, Brian Huff, Kyle Lindsey, Christy Marler, Stephen Morrison, Michele North, Clay Oldham, Abe Russell, Keith Rhodes, and Norman Singer. A scholarship was given to Derrick Beal for $250 from Tyler Junior College.

As sunlight filtered through the greenhouse windows, horticulture students stayed busy producing healthy, pretty plants. They attended the Floraculture contest and the State Landscaping contest and also toured one of the largest greenhouses in the U.S. at New Summerfield.

A rewarding year was also experienced by the auto mechanics classes. Lead by instructor David Sanders, the class showed their talents against other schools in competition by having four projects qualify for state at the Vica regional contest.

"The most rewarding project for us this year was rebuilding a car that had been totally burned," Sanders said.

Rat-a-tat-tat . . . Walking past the metal trades or building trades classes, students get used to the unusual sounds coming from within — the steady hum of whirring drills and pounding hammers.

Under the leadership of Allen Emerson, the metal trades department made a significant contribution to the Mental Health/Mental Retardation department. The classes built a special cart with seatbelts to take preschoolers on outdoor trips. They also entered a trailer in a Corpus Christi Contest.

Building trades classes stayed active through trips to Texas State Technical Institute and Six Flags. They built a bookcase for the junior high library and remodeled the house of former auto mechanics sponsor, P. E. Isham.

Pre-building trades classes worked on knife cases, baby cradles, patio furniture, and a Governor Winthrop desk.

CREATIVITY FLOURISHES in language and the arts

Having successful fund raisers of candy and stationery sales enabled the Foreign Language Club to participate in many events. The club enjoyed a delicious meal at El Chico, and was later given a chance to sample the finer cuisine at a French restaurant in Longview. With their remaining club funds, they awarded a $100 scholarship to the most deserving club senior.

Theatre and debate students attended many festivals, workshops, and contests. Drama students won third place in the Mineola festival, and took second place sweepstakes at Robert E. Lee. They also entered U.I.L. One-Act-Play competition; Kishl Loughmiller was awarded All-Star cast honors, and Amy Bailey was given an honorable mention.

The debate group attended a Baylor workshop in Longview at the beginning of the year. The remainder of the year was spent researching and developing cases for their topic, agriculture. In U.I.L. literary competition, Bill Davis and Mark Edwards won first place in team debate, and Tracy Watson placed third in Lincoln-Douglas debate.

DANCE DANCE DANCE

"A big accomplishment this year was to receive two 1+ ratings and two 1 ratings at competitions. This is the best the Highlighters have done over the past several years, and it makes me feel proud."

Keri Johnson (12)

"We don't realize that the real opportunity for success lies within the person and not in the job; that you can best get to the top by getting to the bottom of things," Terri Knotts, Highlighter director, said.

Starting the year off right with high hopes and good attitudes, the Highlighters began their one-week summer camp. Pushing all week to keep going so they'd learn all five routines to the best of their ability, they performed at the varsity football and basketball games, and marched in the annual Rose Parade and Christmas Parade.

Aside from performing, the Highlighters held fundraisers to raise money for trips and contests they would be attending throughout the year. Car washes and garage sales started the summer. Not stopping at more than $300 raised on car washes, they continued by selling candy and calendars.

Competitions attended included Hughes Springs, where the Highlighters received two "1+" ratings on the Tube and High Kick routines. While having confidence in themselves they performed and received two "1" ratings, once again on the tube routine and the new "Cowboy" routine at the T.J.C. Blue and Gold Festival. In the latter part of the year, the Highlighters went to the Six Flags competition.

Ending the year with a "high kick," the Highlighters held their traditional "Floor Show," which included routines from each class and individual talent. The new Highlighter Drill Team was presented for the first time.

"Drill team is like life; it has its ups and downs," Terri Knotts said, but she always looks forward to next year.

ENTHUSIASTIC SERVICE

"This year Student Senate tried to focus on service projects, such as the canned food drive and (hopefully) the SADD Chapter for Chapel Hill instead of just sponsoring dances." President Sherrie Gray

Student Senate officers started early by attending a leadership camp for a week during the summer at S.F.A. in Nacogdoches. They began making plans for the school year, including the "Back-to-School Beach Bash" (for which the officers did the decoration and advertising.) These young women presented their plans for this dance, in some detail, to Principal Hardy (and they chose to exhibit their training as leaders by going to the school leader on their own.)

For Homecoming, instead of the previous year's float for the Queen candidates, the group arranged for a presentation arch and helped do a portion of the total helium balloon release.

The last fall after-game dance was a regular sockhop.

Next, a canned food drive, assisting the Salvation Army and a load of community members in need, was held. The drive netted four times as many cans of food as the previous year's. Student-decorated boxes were placed in rooms around the campus. Terri McClain's class won the competition and free tickets to the next dance.

In late February, another sockhop occurred and on March 7, the traditional Sadie Hawkins Dance, complete with rustic decor, took place.

It is expected that the Senate will inaugurate a SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) chapter as this year's gift and legacy.

HECE, VOE: GEARED FOR THE FUTURE

"I like getting out of school early because this enables me to devote more time to my job." — Sandy Williams.

Looking for a job? The HECE and the OEA programs are designed to give on-the-job training. Child care, food service, clothing are some of the areas of work in HECE. Banking, and office jobs are areas of work in OEA.

At the end of the year, the students from both programs gave their employees an appreciation breakfast, which everyone enjoyed, both students and employees. Class studies include money management, coworker and employee relationships, personality development attitudes. Sponsors are Nan Sulser, Joyce Buchanan, and Mary Ann Vahovius.

Tune Into the Magic of FHA/HERO

"FHA has been an exceptionally great organization. It has inspired me to possess leadership abilities and gain basic skills. What I have learned in homemaking and FHA these past two years will certainly be with me for life!"

Felicia Thomas (11)

Homemaking students kicked off their year of magic and excitement with an ice cream party honoring 76 new members and officers.

Monthly meetings were held at night so that members and their parents could receive information. Some of the programs presented included an installation ceremony for the officers and members; "goal-setting challenges" from Green Acres Youth Pastor, Eddie Cantu; Christmas food and gift ideas from Joyce Shipp, Smith Co. Extension Agent; Teens and Alcohol, from Trooper Russ, Department of Public Safety; "Watt Watchers" Energy Program, Vicki Noble, Home Service Adviser; and "Teen Pregnancies" from the March of Dimes organization.

Special activities provided magical fun for the FHA/HERO members. A trip to Six Flags, the regional and state FHA meetings, service projects for the elderly, battered wives, and children, and participation in the PTA Halloween Carnival were among these activities.

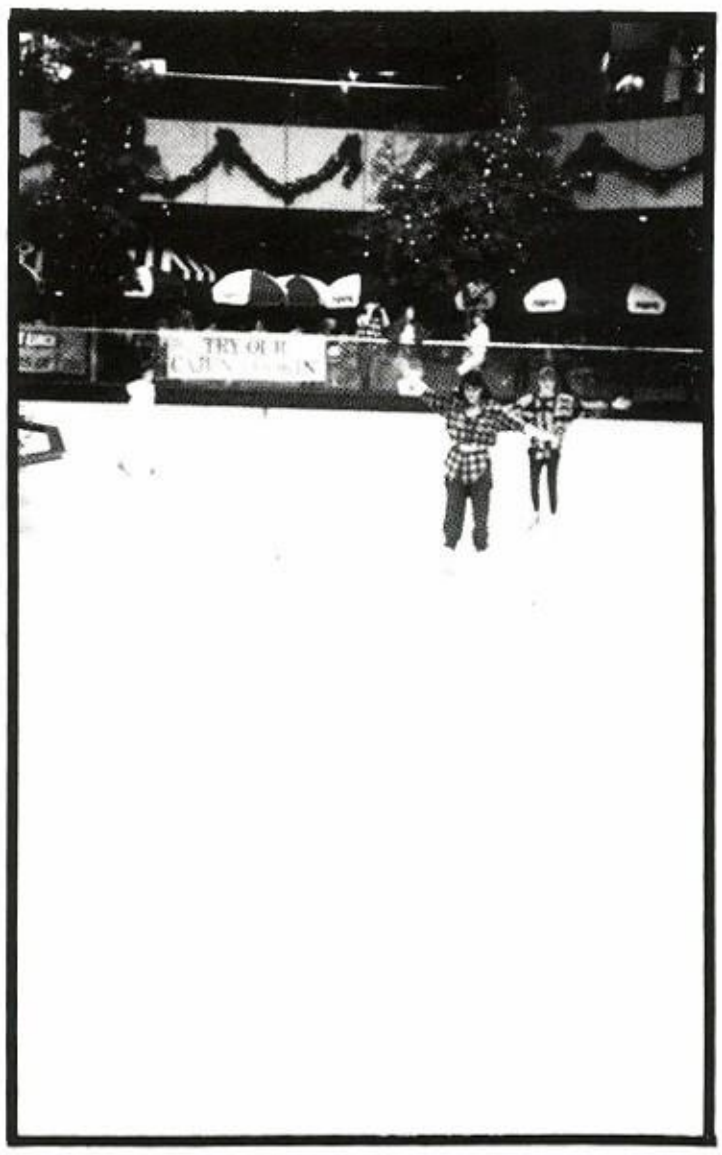
ON THE GO

"Being on the yearbook staff has been tough and demanding but seeing the finished product makes it all worthwhile."

Kelly Johnson (12)



Keeping 800 students informed was the task of the publications department.

The newspaper tried a new approach to sales with lucky shamrocks in the St. Patrick's edition and also sold pizza kits as a fund-raiser. In preliminary U.I.L. events at Robert E. Lee, Tamala Reichard, newspaper editor-in-chief, earned a first place in feature writing and a second place in newswriting.

The yearbook staff toured Taylor Publishing in Dallas and lunched at the Galleria, presented a slide show complete with new lyrics to the "Brass Monkey", and hosted the personality pageant in April.

SOUND OF MUSIC

"Stage Band, the ultimate experience!"
Wayne Thomas (12)

Beautiful music was heard throughout the year, courtesy of the stage band and choir.

Several stage band members earned individual recognition. Elbert Pruitt, Emery Josserand, and Wayne Thomas won All Region Jazz Ensemble awards.

Tim Elliston joined the rock group "Brazil" which opened for "Survivor" at the Oil Palace.

Choir entertained all first-period classes with a Christmas program of songs featuring "White Christmas", "Silver Bells", and other favorite Christmas carols.

The choir also has participated in UIL solo and ensemble contest and received three "II's" and two "III's."

MUSIC TO MY EARS . . .

"I liked performing during football season most because it was exciting to finally get to perform the routines that we had been practicing all summer long."

Lisa Warren (Flag Corps)

"Bravo! Good work!" Many times throughout the year, a passerby could hear Band Director John Standridge encouraging his band to strive for excellence.

The band practiced during the summer for about five hours a day during camp, and during football season after school perfecting their performance.

Football season had an air of excitement during halftime as the band performed such songs as the "Toronado", "Samba de Rollins", and the popular, "Turtle" drum feature. With flags, rifles, and pop flags, the color guard also entertained to this catchy tune.

The U.I.L. Marching Contest was held at Lufkin High School this year. The Band received a third division overall rating, which was an improvement from years past. With hard work and determination, the future is looking brighter for the Chapel Hill Bulldog Band.

REACHING NEW HEIGHTS

"It was really exciting to make it to the finals and be one of the top seven squads at summer camp."

Kim Weaver (12)

Most teenagers don't bother to set their alarms during the summer months.

Cheerleaders were up at the crack of dawn, however, to work out at ETSU's summer camp for varsity and TJC's for JV and freshmen.

Dedication paid off as the varsity returned home with five gold superior ribbons, eight blue ribbons, and a record first of ranking as one of the top seven squads in the final round of competition.

Freshmen and JV cheerleaders earned a spirit stick together. The freshmen returned with two blue and three red ribbons, and the JV won two blue and two red ribbons. Debbie Briery was named one of the top ten cheerleaders at camp.

Most of the varsity squad had cheered together since junior high, which made for a special closeness. "It's been a great experience and one I'll never forget," senior Vicki Gray said. "It was a great way to get involved with the school," senior Melissa Wilson added.

"I'm sure all the senior cheerleaders join me in expressing appreciation to sponsor Teresa Pierce Butler for her help and support throughout the years. We leave all our good times with the new squad," senior Kim Weaver said.

DOWN BUT NOT OUT

"This was a good learning experience. I wish it could have lasted longer."

Steve Jackson (12)

Being dedicated and willing to work hard is what football is all about, no matter if you win or lose. The Bulldogs did just that. Even though they lost a lot of good players, this young Bulldog team did not give up playing to the last moment. Though the Bulldogs ended up with a 2-7 record, they tried hard and had a good time.

"This football season will always be remembered for the rest of my life. In years past I've looked up and the upperclass friends of mine moved on. It's an eerie feeling when you can't look forward to missing somebody because it is you who's going to be a memory," Willie Reed, slot-back said.

KEEPING ON

"This was the most inspiring year in football I have ever coached."
Coach Donnie Williams

When the Bullpups tore through the spirit banner before each game this season, they ran through with pride and respect. The team suffered from the loss of team members to the varsity. Even when they were out-manned, they played their hardest against others but fell short sometimes. While many people enjoyed the varsity on Friday night, they also enjoyed Thursday night football.

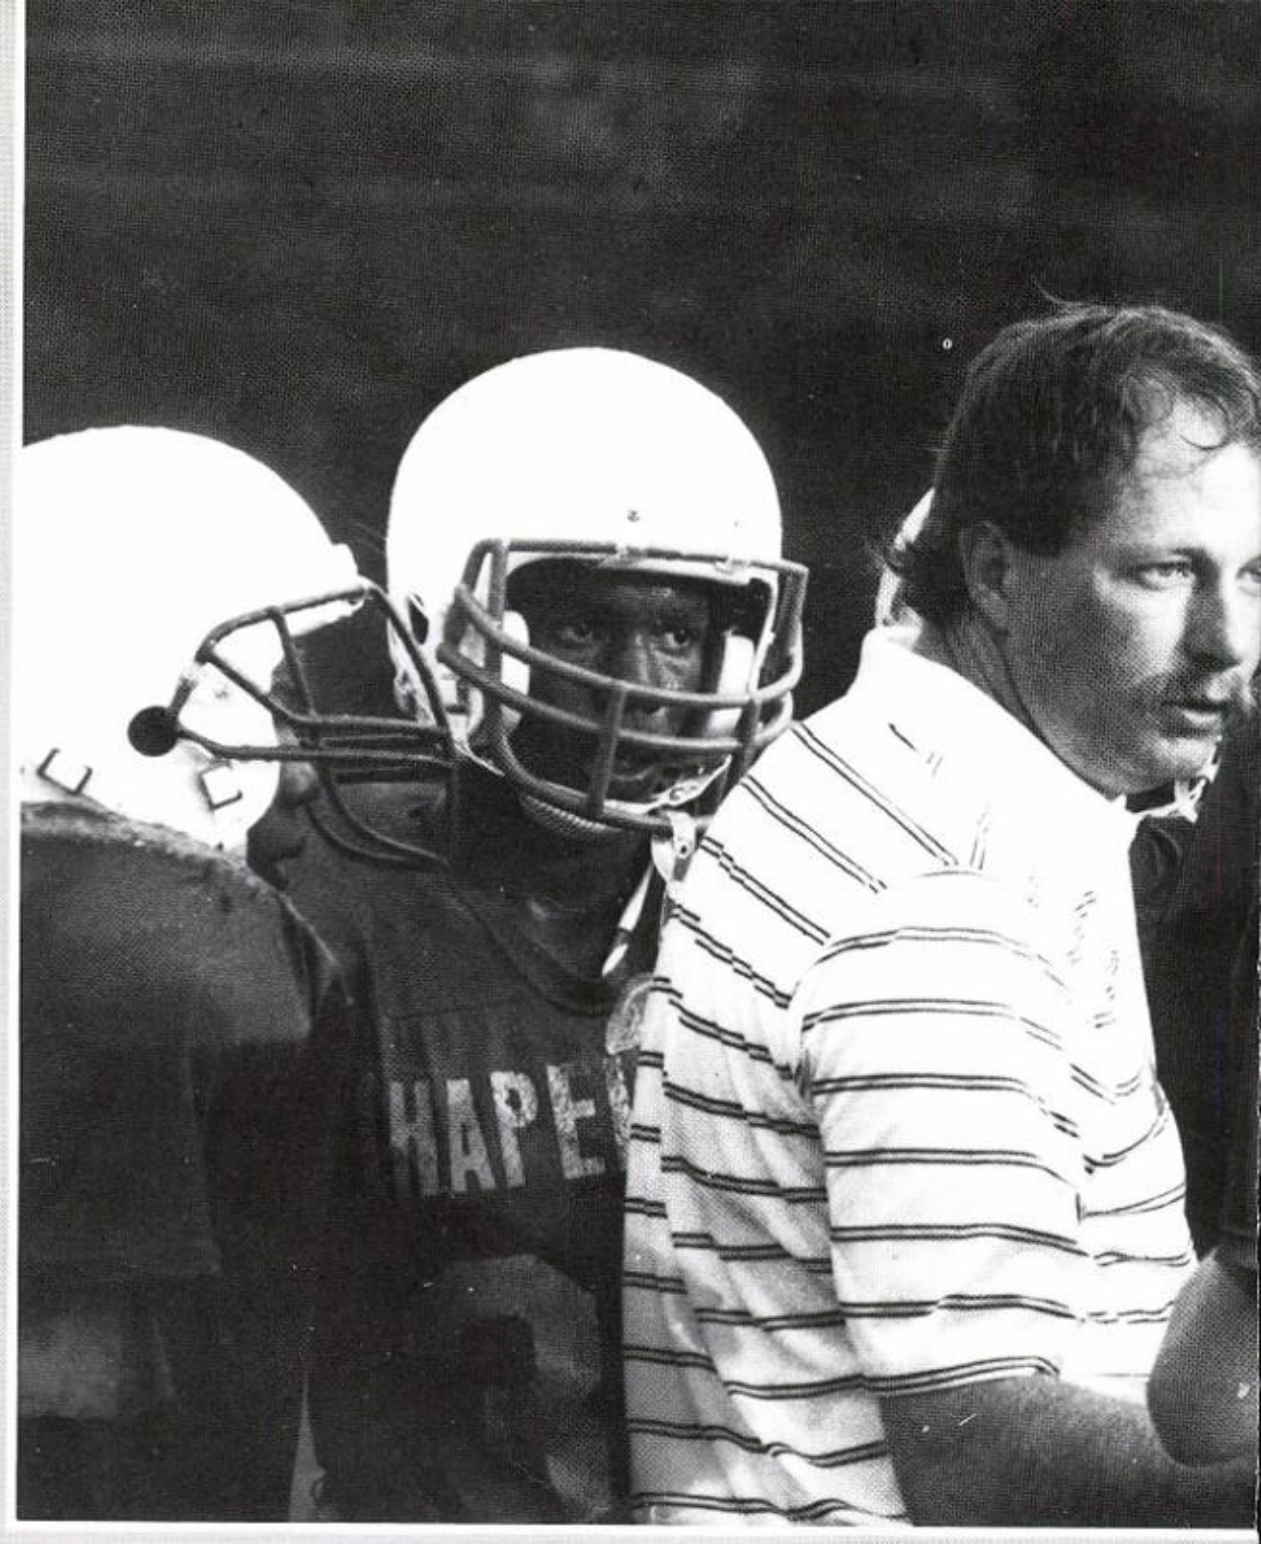
NEW BREED

"We proved to others as well as ourselves to be one of the many great freshman teams ever."

Alandus Matthews (9)



When the Bulldogs tore the spirit banner, the opponents were startled at their size.

Although they were small in size their enthusiasm was enormous.

The freshmen started their season with a loss, but became more determined to be winners because of school pride.

Desire, dedication and discipline were the leading factors to a 2-4 district season.

The outlook for this year's freshman team and Coach Yarborough seems optimistic. Playing a competitive district season, they should steadily improve in every aspect of the game.

So close yet so far . . .

Winning the last season game against Athens would have meant third place in the second round of district, another game for the play-offs, but it was not the varsity volleyball team's destiny to go that far. Despite the disappointing loss for the district play-offs, the team pulled through with a 12-5 season record.

"Everyone on the team worked hard for the season we had. Emotionally we were constantly up and down, which didn't help us during our most important games, but we had a great season and were proud of that," senior Michele North said.

To add to the great season record the volleyball team also accumulated a second-place trophy from Grand Saline, a second-place trophy from Westwood and a first-place trophy from Chapel Hill's own invitational tournament. Cindy Roach, Michele North and Amy Mosley and Barbara Jacobs also received All-Tournament trophies.

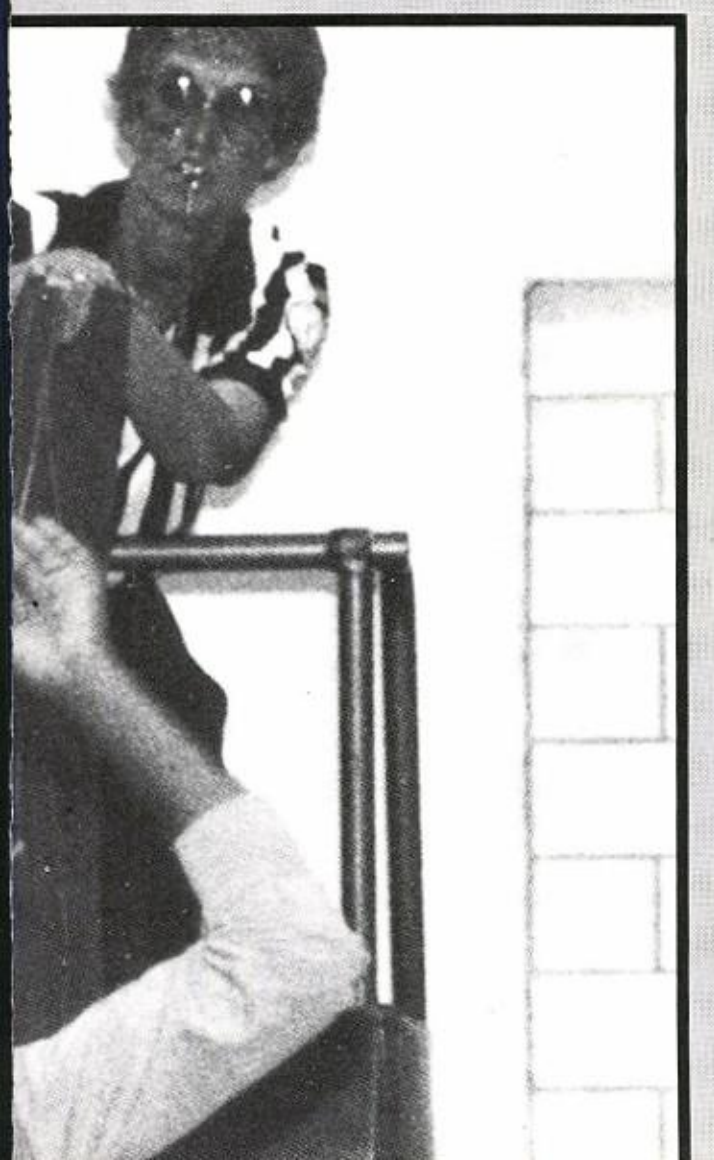
ONE FOR ALL

"The girls tried extra hard this year to build for varsity in '87."

LaFresha Perry (10)

Good all-around teams, the JV and freshman girls spiked and bumped their way through the 1986 season, concentrating on basic skills and playing as a team. They worked hard and cooperated well together as they gained experience that will prove beneficial in the future. They had a winning spirit and always maintained a never-quit attitude.

UP IN THE AIR — Freshman Lara Stallings attempts a block against a Jacksonville spiker.
FOR THE KILL — Adrienne Welch spikes as an Arp Tiger tries to block.
GRACE OF A BALLERINA — Tamela Johnson sets the ball over to the other side with one hand.



VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball was first designed as an indoor sport for businessmen who found basketball too vigorous. It was invented in 1895 by William G. Morgan, the physical director of the YMCA. He called it "mintonette" until a professor from Springfield College proposed the name of "volleyball." The game soon became popular to everyone. The U.S. then introduced it to other countries.

SEEING IS BELIEVING

"Beating Palestine in front of their home crowd was one of my greatest coaching experiences."

Coach Wally Dawkins

The press nicknamed them the "sensational seven." Whatever the Bulldog varsity lacked in numbers, they made up for in talent. With first team All-District guard David Abbott running the pace and post work from Edward Ates and second team, and All-District Kennard Choice, the varsity surprised a lot of people. When the Bulldog roster got down to only seven players, the team pulled together, became a close-knit family, and turned heads by beating Palestine and Carthage on the road. Every member of the "sensational seven" was an attribute to the team. The members of this team were: David Abbott first team All-District, 18.7 ppg; Trampass Bass second team All-District, 13.7 ppg; Kennard Choice second team All-District, 13.6 ppg; Edward Ates (11 rebounds a game); Charlie Johnson 18.7 ppg, (11 assists); Kelly McCowin, and David Barrett.

COAST-TO-COAST. Charlie Johnson goes one-on-one for a lay-up against Lindale.

J.V. BASKETBALL

Having a winning team ahead of them, the J.V. boys had a lot expected of them. Playing before the varsity and having the crowd come in during the last eight minutes, the J.V. was mainly recognized only for their final score, not their overall play. Donnie Whitworth and Bryan Scruggs handled the guard positions, Donnie Rhodes had the forward, and Ronnie Sims and Sean Seelbach handled the post. "Even though we weren't always in the spotlight, we learned how it feels to win, and we became winners," Ronnie Sims said. With a winning season for the entire boys program, a winning tradition has emerged at Chapel Hill.

ON THE RISE

"With a young team and hardly any experience, I feel like we did really well."
Cindy Roach (11)

Showing a lot of heart and putting forth a lot of hard work, girl's varsity basketball went from 1-21 during the 1985-86 season to 8-15 this year, and earned a third place trophy at the Cayuga Tournament.

There are set backs for the coming year: the senior girls will graduate, and Kelli Risner, a first team all-district player, will have moved to Ohio. This next season will be a time to build and learn, not only from Coach Wallace, but also from each other.

SOCCER: WHAT A KICK!

"It was a lot of work getting used to a new coach and a new way of playing, but we really learned a lot."

Trent Minter (10)

Change was the biggest thing for the 1986-87 Chapel Hill soccer team. A new coach, Frank Hense, brought new ideas and a different way to play. There was much youth and inexperience, as they lost four seniors, and played with a freshman goalie. The benefits of this, however, will be younger players with more experience to handle the responsibilities during the 1987-88 season. Coach Hense has hopes for the players to improve individually, making a closer, better team. He is looking forward to an increase in players, and possibly starting a J.V. team.

Gleith Mayfield (10)

This year three track athletes qualified for the State Meet in Austin: Gleith Mayfield, Corey Hill, and Corey Ford.

Sophomore Gleith Mayfield worked hard with her teammates in running track. "I enjoyed working with Coach Leann Gibson and I also appreciated the support everyone gave me," Mayfield said.

Sophomore Corey Ford worked equally hard in practicing. He got first in the 100 and the 200-meter dash at the district track meet. "I didn't accomplish my goal this year but I have two more years to try," Ford said.

Senior Corey Hill became interested in the long jump his freshman year. He was so good that they moved him up to junior varsity. He was first in district all season and finished seventh in regionals. Hill went all the way to state meet in the long jump.

CHAMPIONSHIP BASEBALL

"Baseball is a great sport. It takes a lot of determination to play this game. Not just our 9 starters won the games; it took our whole team. Everyone helped each other out."

Lance Moss, Catcher

Effort, hard work, and dedication took this young team a long way, according to Coach Donnie Williams. The baseball team, fielding only two seniors, finished third in district. This was an extremely young team with three sophomores and four juniors in the starting line-up. The team goal for the 1987 season was to have a winning record. Finishing 10-9, this goal was accomplished. The Bulldogs finished third in the Athens tourney, defeating John Tyler and Seagoville. "Championship Baseball" was the team motto, and even though they didn't make the playoffs, their hard work proved that they were champions. Junior Kyle Lindsey said, "We grew together as a team and have high hopes for next year as age will no longer plague us."

SUPER SWING. Senior batting champion Ward Carter swings for another base hit as he goes 3 for 4 against Henderson.

SMACK. With a powerful swing and good eye, Junior Kyle Lindsey connects for another base hit.

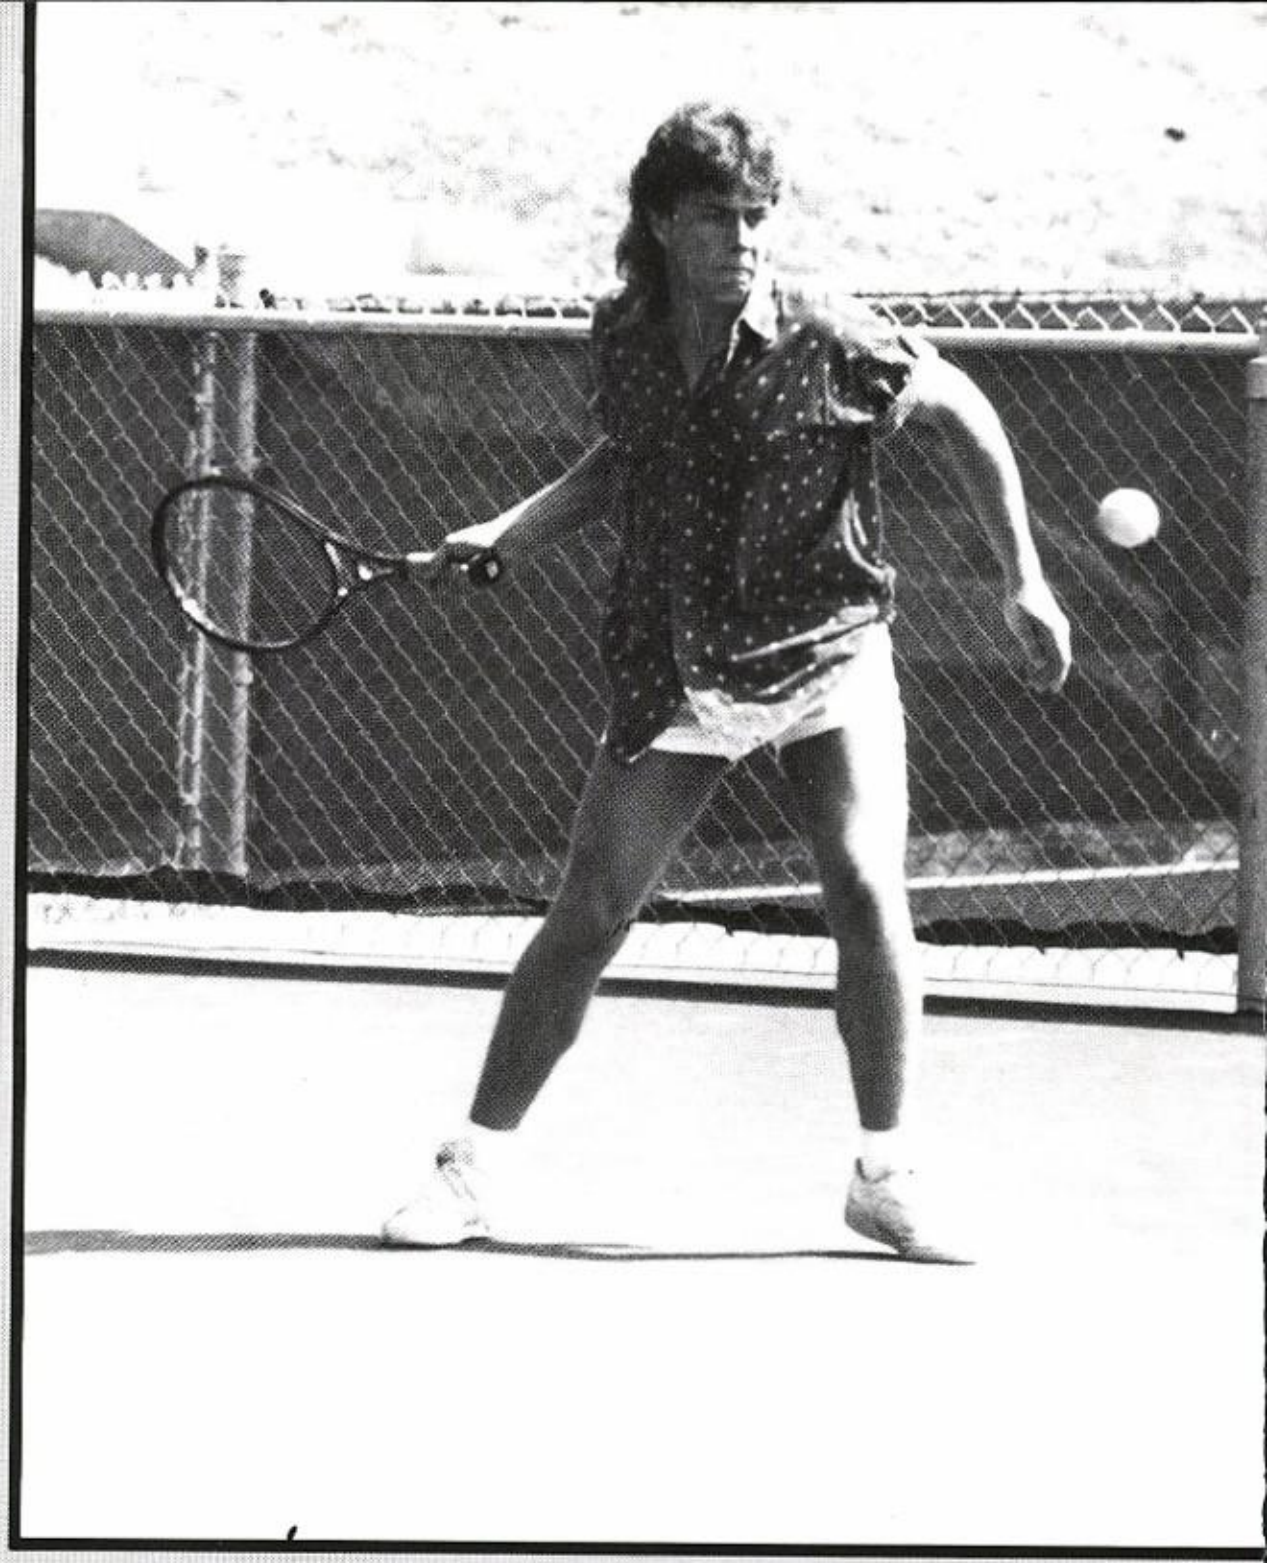
SPRING SPORTS EXCEL!

"I was very proud of Sherrie Gray for finishing in the top 8 out of 30 girls in district play. Sherrie and Vicki will be missed on the girls' team next year. We are looking forward to next year's boys' golf team because we have two freshmen, two sophomores, and two juniors returning."

Coach Jack Burrell



Fourth in district — that's what the 1987 tennis team accomplished this year, and in the history of the tennis program, this has been a strong finish. The golf team competed on many greens this year to help their young team get much experience for future years. Senior Sherrie Gray received all-district honors as well as "Most Outstanding Player" for 1987. Scott Cooper received "Most Outstanding Player" for the boys. In tennis, Michele North and Wayne Thomas received "Most Outstanding Player" Awards. The doubles team of Tod Byrd and Wayne Thomas advanced all the way to the semi-finals to help the Bulldogs to the fourth-in-district position. Not only did the teams excel, but also the athletes individually.

GEARED for the FUTURE

SENIORS

Seniors at last.

Most could look back with pride on the last twelve years and look forward with hope to a future of challenges.

The class of '87 will probably best be remembered for the completion of "The Wall." This project gained the respect of both the student body and the community.

Student Senate President Sherrie Gray said the main goal of the class was to establish a good name for Chapel Hill and felt they helped to accomplish this.

She added that the class "did a good job of dealing with the many changes this year . . . closed campus, state rules in education . . ."

Vice-President Mindy Webb and Senior class president Vicki Gray left everyone with the advice to "strive for excellence and never give up on your dreams."

A LITTLE T.L.C. David Flemons seems to be taking good care of the greenhouse plants.

JUNIORS

Prom night . . . the most magical night of the year for juniors and seniors.

"Our major goal this year was to have a successful prom for the graduating class. We have been very close to the seniors since fifth grade, and they mean a great deal to us. They deserved to go out in style," representative Tracey Harvey said.

Bettering human relations was another concern of the juniors. "Not only should we treat our teachers properly, but we should show concern for one another. The day is coming when we will regret the way we treated our friends, and that day may be too late," Harvey said.

Junior Derrick Ford said, "We stood together as one and profited from our mistakes . . . made them stepping stones to achievement."

LOOK, SHERLOCK! Gary Earle and Rusty Tate are shocked to find the true meaning of "nerd" on the official Nerd Day.

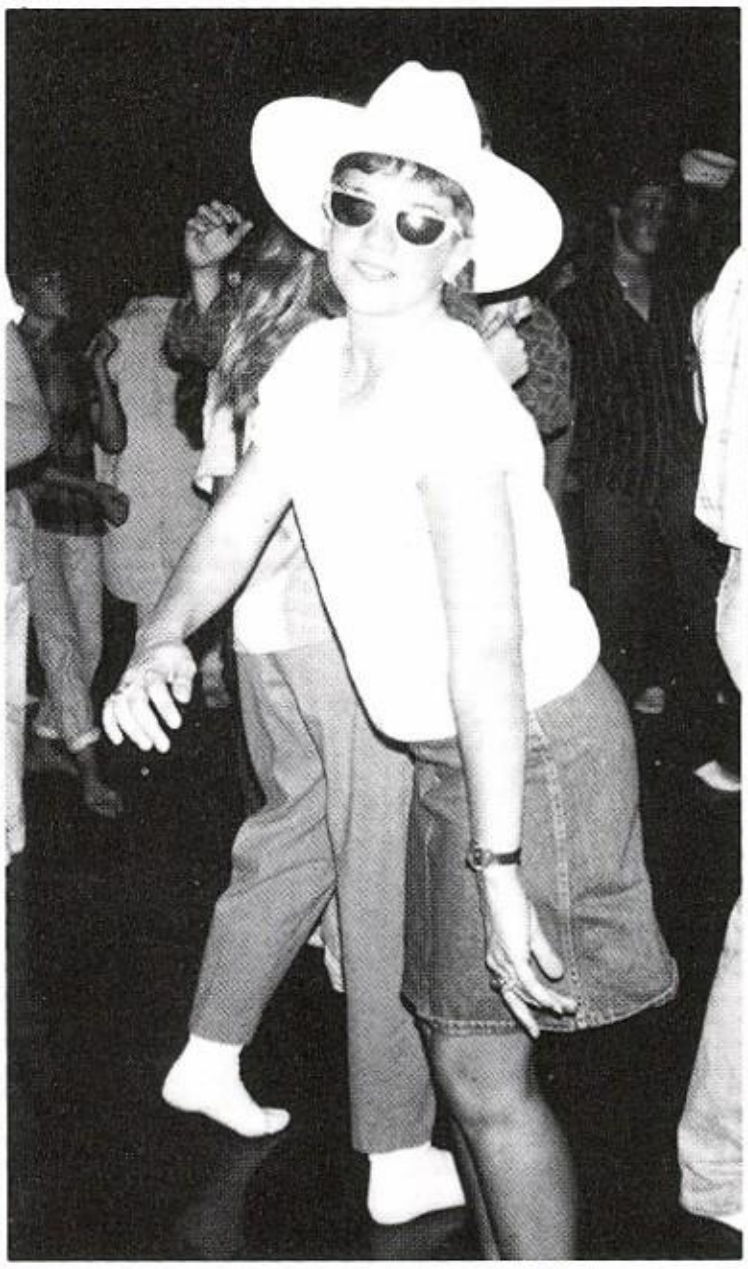
SOPHOMORES

MIXING THE STYLES. Debbie Briery can't decide between being a cowgirl and being a prep.
GROWING OLD. Bryan Scruggs explains to Ron Gooch how to groom a mustache.



The middle child in a family is often unintentionally slighted. No longer receiving the undivided attention the "baby" gets or the freedom the oldest gets, sophomores often feel frustrated.

To combat this attitude, the Kiwanis Club sponsors a "Sophomore of the Year" award for a student nominated by the teachers and elected by the Kiwanis. The recipient of this award, Donnie Whitworth, sophomore class president received a $100 scholarship.

Donnie stated, "I feel that our student body and people of our community need to pull together and be supportive of our teams. High attendance at the games will build school spirit and bring victory back into our school. This year, there was more support at the basketball games than ever and they had a very memorable season. For our school, the future can only get better."

Sophomore class treasurer Christy Pruitt said, "I think that as a school and community, we need to be involved and support our school."

Secretary Tracey Ripley added that she hoped her class' next two years would be great and that she hoped her classmates would shoot for their dreams and strive to reach their goals in life.

BUCKET HEADS CAN BE COOL. Mark Crutchfield reveals his preferences in fried chicken. Andy Christopher wishes he had a bucket, too.

FRESHMEN

Young, full of energy, and eager to learn — this describes the typical freshman embarking on a high school adventure.

Freshman this year were confronted with massive changes in education — TEAMS, HB 72.

Freshmen class president Sharmea Johnson expressed the feelings of most in her class: "The more involved you get, the better experience you'll have in standing for something at Chapel Hill."

Treasurer Tamela Johnson echoed these feelings: "Our goals were to achieve academically and to respect our teachers and fellow classmates. Our projects were to help those that were in need by sharing and caring."

Following the motto that "education is the key to success," Tamala noted that " as a class we tried to abide by school rules and to be supportive of school events. In the future, we hope to excell as one of the best classes of Chapel Hill High School."

HOW HIGH WAS IT? Freshman cheerleader Melissa Adair practices mid-air splits.

THE BULLDOG

"Kiss the Bulldog" was an event sponsored by the T.A.F.E. The object of it was to see which teachers would get the most votes to kiss the famed Bulldog. It took place at the pre-Halloween pep-rally. The lucky winners were Mrs. Teresa Butler who said, "It was wet!" and Mr. John Standridge who said, "He had bad breath!" It was an unique idea that CHHS will always remember.

A WET ONE. Mrs. Butler may be faking it.

"It was interesting." Misti McClendon (9)

THE WINNER IS . . . Mildred Cunningham, president of PTA, waits patiently while Assistant Principal Janis Walling draws a name for the door prize winner at the Open House.
AND NOW . . . Principal Jerry Hardy gets the audience's attention and keeps it!
"THANK YOU, BULLDOG BACKERS!!" Superintendent Johnny Johnston addresses the Homecoming crowd about the new Spiritmobile, made possible through the generosity of the Bulldog Backers, Arp State Bank, and Threlkeld-Covington Insurance.

ADOPTED GOALS
1983-'88

Goal One — Students should acquire the basic skills necessary to be socially and economically competent.
Goal Two — Students should gain skills in the logical process of thought.
Goal Three — Students should develop skills to enter the world of work.
Goal Four — Students should develop knowledge of the fundamental structure and processes of the American Economic System.
Goal Five — Students should acquire attitudes which will promote good health and physical fitness.
Goal Six — Students should develop an appreciation of our American heritage.
Goal Seven — Students should acquire an understanding of and respect of differences and similarities among cultures.
Goal Eight — Students should develop an understanding of our changing world.
Goal Nine — Students should develop good character and self-worth.
Goal Ten — Students should perceive culture and beauty as expressed through literature, art, music, drama, and nature.

Reflecting the district's upward trend toward excellence, the T.E.A. Accreditation Monitoring Team rated the school system as "fully accredited." In a memo of praise to faculty and staff, Superintendent Johnny Johnston noted that "the resulting report professionally supports what we have known — C.H.I.S.D. is an outstanding school system because of the good work which you do. We are proud of you and your contribution."

"It's not Taco Bell, but since we have to go there, I feel they try to make it as good as possible."

Tara Weikel (12)

Since the school board voted to close the high school campus at lunch for safety reasons, the cafeteria had to deal with the increased number of diners.

Three lunch periods were established, and Mrs. Walling worked with lunchroom committees, students chosen from each grade level to give input to the cafeteria workers.

Students selected were Jason Garrett, Amy Harden, Mashelle Dawson (9); Gary Mosley, Bobby Perry (10); Rochelle Councilman (11); and Tamoy Carter, Delancy Atkins, and Vicki Gray (12).

Following student suggestions, the cafeteria added taco salads and soft-serve ice cream to the menu.

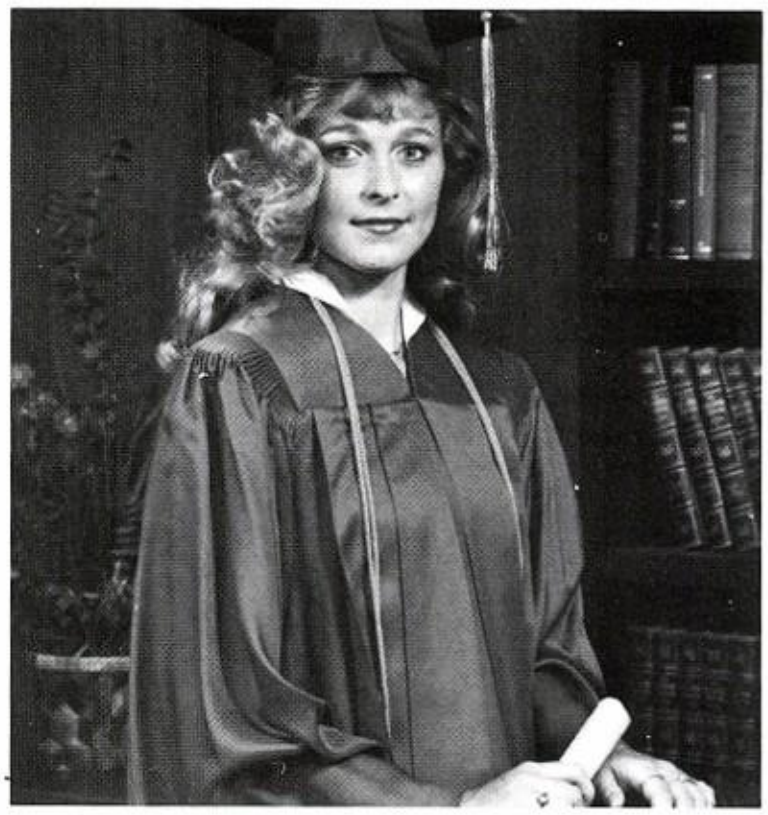
DANICE DEFFEBACH



IF YOU THINK YOU ARE BEATEN, YOU ARE;
IF YOU THINK YOU DARE NOT, YOU DON'T;
IF YOU'D LIKE TO WIN, BUT THINK YOU CAN'T
IT'S ALMOST A CINCH YOU WON'T
IF YOU THINK YOU'LL LOSE, YOU'RE LOST,
FOR OUT IN THE WORLD WE FIND SUCCESS BEGINS WITH A FELLOW'S WILL;
IT'S ALL IN THE STATE OF MIND.

IF YOU THINK YOU'RE OUTCLASSED, YOU ARE YOU'VE GOT TO THINK HIGH TO RISE.
YOU'VE GOT TO BE SURE OF YOURSELF
BEFORE YOU CAN EVER WIN A PRIZE.
LIFE'S BATTLES DON'T ALWAYS GO
TO THE STRONGER OR FASTER MAN;
BUT SOON OR LATE THE MAN WHO WINS
IS THE ONE WHO THINKS HE CAN.

GO FOR THE WORLD, DANICE; YOU CAN DO IT!

WITH LOVE,
DAD, MOM AND DAN, JR.

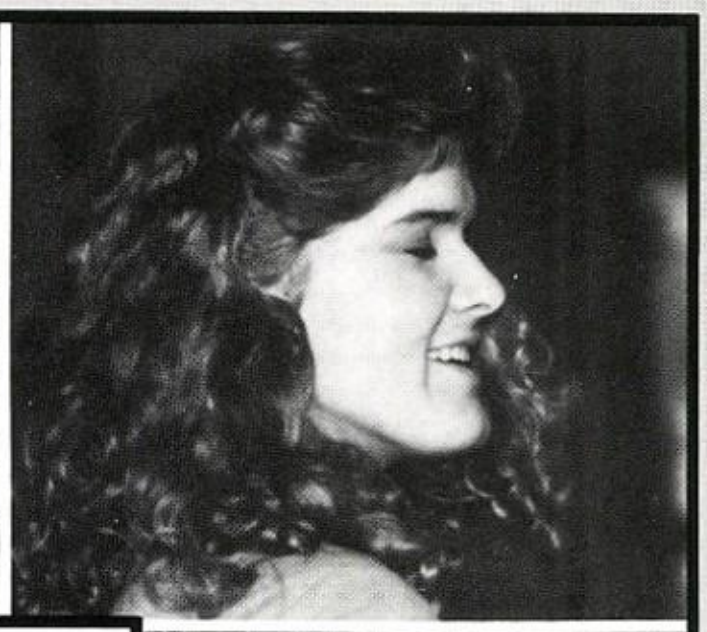
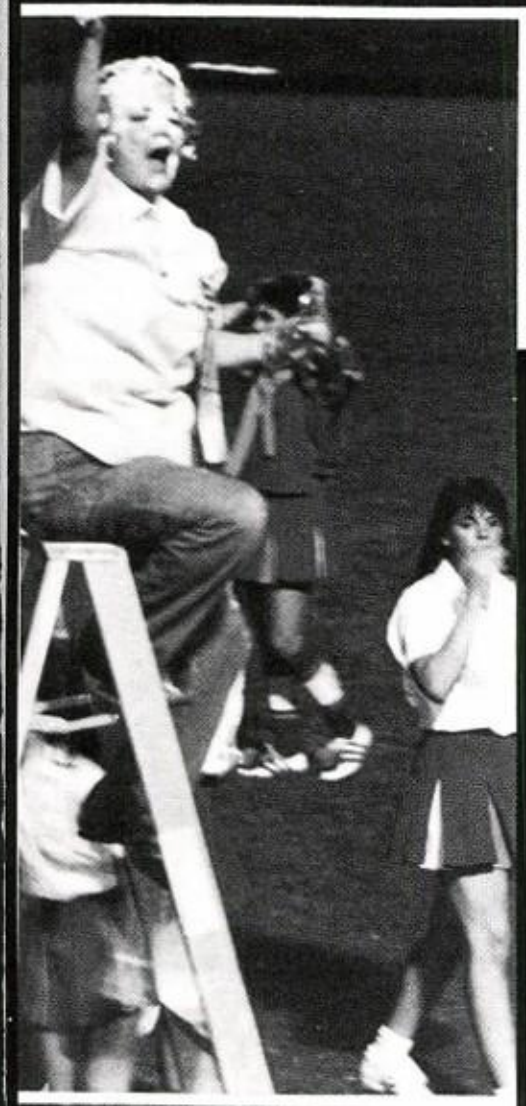
COMPLIMENTS of a friend.





LIFE

Life is a state of confusion,
A riddle to explore.
Some aspects are intrusions
That gnaw right to the core.

It speeds up your strife,
And then slows it down.
This is so crazy!
What's to be found?

Some reach their dreams
Of richest dream lore.
Others are split at the seams,
They're chosen to be poor.

Our life is one big play,
With people giving us cues.
Some tell us what to say,
Others tell us what to do.

Why go through life in despair?
No dress rehearsal — it's the final run.
A lifetime is too short to live,
Because you're only given one.

Chris Richier

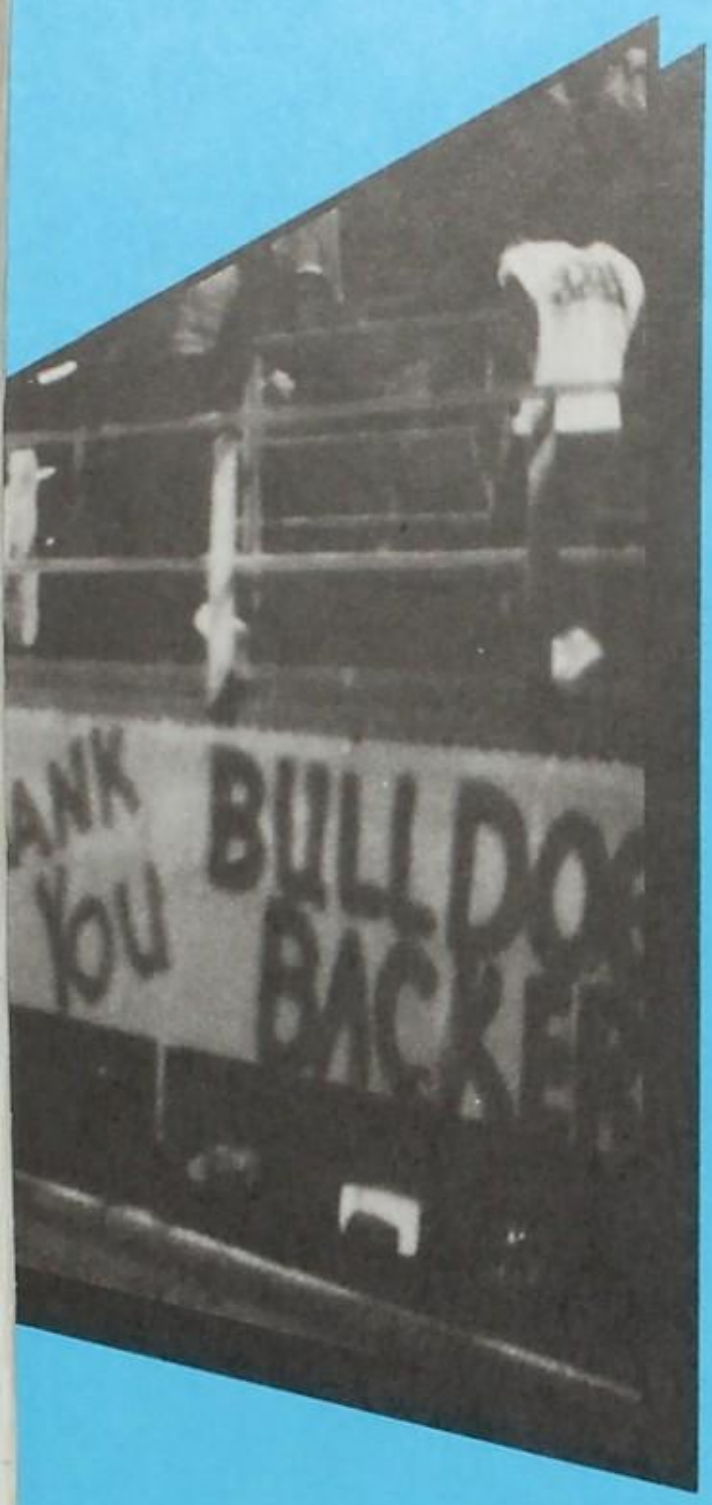
C'MON, DOGS! Seniro John Charlton watches anxiously during the Homecoming game.

LISTEN UP. Getting attention seems to be senior Dessie Ford's specialty.

WE'RE #1. When the lights go down, fans must say goodbye.



Geared for the Future

The best years of your life . . . that's what they say about high school days.

We hope that you get older (and wiser), while browsing through this yearbook, you'll realize "they" were right.

We've tried to capture the best of the year.

Chapel Hill is truly "shifting gears" — academically, socially, and athletically.

A new school and stadium, the Spiritmobile donated by the Bulldog Backers, a record-setting canned food drive, Kiss the Bulldog and Nerd Day, outstanding basketball teams and high standardized test scores all contributed to a new feeling of pride.

We believe that this book reflects the best of our school and community.

Thanks for sharing the good times with us.
